
AUSTRALIAN AND INTERNATIONAL STANDARDS

STANDARDS AUSTRALIA can provide companies and individuals with up-to-date information on:

Australian and International Standards Quality Certification Design

STANDARDS AUSTRALIA produce standards which are clear, practical and which reflect the best in current technical, scientific and social thinking and provide a range of quality, design and approval services to encourage use of Australian and International standards.

STANDARDS AUSTRALIA has major information centres in Sydney and Melbourne which provide a wide range of information and research facilities in relation to Australian, International and Foreign Nations' standards and regulations. The organisation also conducts public seminars on new Australian standards. A wide range of literature is available on both standards and quality services.

There is no restriction on access to services; a comprehensive range of phone, fax and mail order services operate. Paid membership of Standards Australia is also available.

Enquiries on any of the Australian and International Standards, Quality Certification or Design can be made to
